

Air-conditioner

The air conditioner is a modular unit. Starting with a base unit, the other variants (i.e. semi or fully automatic control, additional heater, left or right-hand drive vehicles) can be created by adding additional components or swapping components.

